Footnotes

- 1 Scheme responsible for the protection of your deposit: Your deposit is covered by the Dutch Deposit Guarantee. If insolvency of your credit institution should occur, your deposits would be repaid up to €100.000.
- 2 General limit of protection: If a deposit is unavailable because a credit institution is unable to meet its financial obligations, depositors are repaid by the Dutch Deposit Guarantee. This repayment covers at maximum €100.000 per credit institution. This means that all deposits at the same credit institution are added up in order to determine the coverage level. If, for instance a depositor holds a savings account with €90.000 and a current account with €20.000, he or she will only be repaid €100.000. This method will also be applied if a credit institution operates under different trademarks.

In some cases, deposits over €100,000 are protected by the Dutch Deposit Guarantee Scheme. In that case, an additional protection of up to €500,000 per account holder per bank, on top of the standard protection of €100,000, applies for six months after the deposit concerned. For example, in the event that at the time of your bank's bankruptcy, you hold a balance directly related to the purchase or sale of a private owner-occupied home. This temporarily increased protection also applies to balances arising from a number of specific events such as the payment of a pension, disability benefit or severance pay, the dissolution of a marriage or registered partnership, an insurance payment or compensation for damages arising from criminal activity or a wrongful conviction. The temporarily increased protection only applies to natural persons, not legal entities.

- 3 Limit of protection for joint accounts: In case of joint accounts, the limit of €100.000 applies to each depositor.
- 4 Repayment: The responsible deposit guarantee scheme is the Dutch Deposit Guarantee operated by De Nederlandsche Bank N.V. (DNB); Within 7 working days, you can have your compensation paid into a bank account at another bank.
Account holders who want to claim the Dutch Deposit Guarantee have five years to claim their money.
